NOVEMBER 2026

Just as the squirrels and the bears are hoarding for the coming hibernation, the Indie has stockpiled programming to tide us over while we wait for the snow.

November 19-22 marks the return of SOAR Film Festival. Our annual celebration of wilderness film is the place for Northern Ontarians to beat the pre-winter blues, gather, share in a love of the outdoors and nature, and be inspired for their next adventure.

The Saturday prior to SOAR, Rocky enters the ring for a 50th Anniversary screening. The Friday following SOAR is the debut of our Food and Film Fundraiser Series, featuring Stanley Tucci's Big Night.

We've got an incredible slate of documentaries in store this month from the Cinefest-winning *Run Terry Run, taking viewers behind the scenes of the historic Marathon of Hope, to the genres bleeding-edge in You Can See Everything, Lance Oppenheim and Nathan Fielder's effort at peering inside the mind of Elizabeth Holmes. There is also the incredible and incidental double feature on the organism of global surveillance in The Sandbox and NAZA.

Award Season at the Indie kicks off with two Cannes darlings joining our November catalogue. First, Paweł Pawlikowski (Cold War, Ida) won Best Director for his latest - Fatherland, starring Sandra Hüller (Anatomy of a Fall, Project Hail Mary). Then Minotaur, winner of the Grand Prix, closes the month out.

Quebec film is twice represented in the comedy Hantée, bringing the final frights of the year, and La Belle Province's premier existentialist Denis Côté's Nobody's Violence.

Closing out November, our Annual General Meeting lands on Monday the 30th this year. Attend either in person or online to see what we've been up to this past year and help shape the future of the co-op.

We've just over 75 screenings in November so come on down our doors WILL be open!!
